Summary of subject

If you want to work in the football industry, strive to make a positive difference and help players reach their full potential then this course is for you.

This carefully designed two-year course helps you understand the fundamentals of football from a playing, coaching and business perspective. You will be studying a range of modules from the footballing world. The specialisation of the course means you will develop skills, knowledge and understanding that may not be in a general sports course.

You will learn and develop your knowledge and understanding in the football world through a range of ways including recording and analysing football video footage to presenting presentations on football tactics and preparation to competition. The vast range of framework within the course equips you with the essential skills, knowledge and experience both practically and academically for the sports pathway you choose.

Learning from several professionally qualified staff members who have worked in the football industry for numerous years both in the UK and abroad will help guide you to inspire elite athletes or to encourage individuals to take part in physical activity through the power of sport.
